Context	The Not For Profit (NFP) sector in Australia is being impacted by range of factors. Donation, funding and revenue streams are all under pressure. Regulatory and governance obligations continue to grow. And a combination the uncertain nature of the sector and the ability to compete financially with larger organisations can make it difficult to recruit and retain appropriately skilled and experienced staff and directors. In the last few years AHHA has developed a suite of adaptable and efficient systems and procedures to manage our own business requirements and are pleased to be able to make them available to other NFP organisations in the health sector.
Approach	The Australian Healthcare and Hospitals Association has developed a suite of adaptable and efficient systems and procedures which allows us to offer a shared services concept of business support to those organisations which are looking at achieving sustainability through financial and administrative efficiencies. Drawing on both our comprehensive knowledge of the health sector and the governance, financial and risk requirements of an Australian NFP, AHHA can support NFPs in the health sector to review and improve their core business functions.
Result	AHHA's business support services allows organisations to focus on their core activities, while ensuring their business processes are optimised to maximise efficiency, minimise waste and ensure financial and governance requirements are met.
